

October 27, 2024
San Diego, California FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Fearless Fermenting is looking for co-conspirators to spread the message of improving gut health with fermented foods!

We're looking for local venues such as farmers markets, farms (especially regenerative ones), and co-ops to co-host an event! We are booking dates in the USA between January 20 and April 30, 2025.

We especially love venues which share our broader values of:

- treating food as medicine
- growing nutrient-dense food in a regenerative way
- promoting self-sufficiency
- building strong, decentralized local communities
- creating vibrant health (physical, emotional, mental, spiritual)

Fearless Fermenting Tour events feature

- a fermentation workshop/demo (with hands-on audience participation)
- Q&A and book reading and signed copies of Fearless Fermenting
- Samples of fermented foods

Austin Durant, author, educator and fermentation expert is proud to announce his new book, Fearless Fermenting, a cookbook celebrating fermented foods and beverages.

In Fearless Fermenting, Durant takes you through his fourteen-year journey of food fermentation, and illuminates the many reasons to ferment food at home. Gorgeously photographed, it offers over 75 time-tested recipes spanning a wide variety of fermented food and beverage traditions.

"Fearless Fermenting" will give you the courage to plunge into the fascinating world of fermented foods.

– Sally Fallon Morell, President
The Weston A. Price Foundation

Austin Durant has steadily worked to build a community of passionate fermenters... In "Fearless Fermenting," he adds his zeal, personality, experience, and effervescent voice to the growing body of fermentation literature.

– Kirsten K. Shockey, author of Fermented Vegetables 10th Anniversary Edition and 4 other fermentation books.

Fearless Fermenting is available in paperback, hardcover, Kindle and eBook formats on Amazon and elsewhere.
